ADDRESS OF THE HON. B. W. B. BROWN, DELIVERED AT THE 83D ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SUBSCRIBERS OF THE NORTHERN DISPENSARY ON THE FOURTEENTH DAY OF JANUARY, 1910.

Fellow Subscribers of the Northern Dispensary:

We are gathered here to-day, as our predecessors and forefathers have from year to year since 1828, to plan and devise ways and means to alleviate the sufferings of our brothers and sisters in distress, and we do so because not only of our sympathy with our fellow beings who are suffering pain and want, not only because of the Christian duty devolving upon us so to do, but in thankfulness, I hope, for our own health, which is the only thing that can bring happiness to us and our loved ones in this interesting age with interesting events always happening. For thankfulness itself we should be thankful. The progress of this great city depends upon the health and happiness of our citizens and of their children, and in view of the remarkable growth of the city and the rapidly increasing need for public institutions of charity, due to the flocking to our city of people from all parts of the Union in hope of bettering their condition, to the unprecedented immigration to this port, with the unsanitary congestion arising in considerable part therefrom, and to the commercial depression that has existed for several years, every municipal department for the relief of the poor and the sick has been overcrowded, every eleemosynary institution has been taxed to the utmost, but the demand for relief is insistent and we must not shirk, but must progress and advance not only in buildings, but equipments. There is a lamentable lack of co-operation and of systematized effort not only in the city's various departments, but also with the philanthropic institutions and societies, and even the doctors themselves for the relief of the sick and destitute, which almost makes me feel like the fellow who wrote the rhyme:

"It tickles me almost t' death t' see the doctors fight,
Each one declarin' t' other's wrong an' only him is right,
When aleypath an' homeypath forever disagree,
Exceptin' when they jine t' fight 'gainst ostyopathe,
Th' aleypath will dope his sick th' pharmacopy through;
Th' homeypath will jine along with numbers 1 and 2,
Th' ostypath will knead y'r frame an' loosen ev'ry bone,
An' then the scientis' declare you're saved by faith alone.
An' some folks listen to th' talk each school has got t' make
An' dope themselves with pi'zen drops f'r ev'ry pain and ache.
They choose a school o' medicine an' help along the fuss,
Each one a gulpin' physic down an' growing worse an' worse.
It tickles me t' hear 'em talk, and hear 'em argify,
An' see 'em pay th' doctor bills that figger mighty high,
Th' remedies my mother made are good enough f'r me,
Some goose grease on a flannel rag an' lots o' boneset tea,
In Spring when feelin' torpid an' my liver's out o' plumb,
Molary in my system an' each jint a feelin' numb;
When blood is out o' kelter an' each bone begins to ache,
I fall back on th' remedies my mother used t' make,
She didn't call no doctors in t' feed her folks on pills
An' feel their pulse while lookin' wise an' sendin' in big bills—
She kept us all a feelin' fine an' well as we could be
With goose grease on a flannel rag and quarts o' fennel tea.
Th' trouble with most men to-day is each has got a fad,
Each boastin' of an ailment that our fathers never had,
Appendycetus is th' talk, bacilly's all th' rage,
Th' men who has diskivered germs are heroes of th' age,
But I'm content with old time ways, an' you kin bet y'r life
No modern doctor ever gets t' carve me with his knife,
I'll just keep doctorin' myself, while doctors disagree,
With goose grease on a flannel rag, and quarts o' sass'fras tea."

but we cannot agree with him that in the City of New York "goose grease" and "sass'fras tea" cures all ills; if it were so, our task would be much easier. The most urgent need of to-day is for increased facilities for the care of the aged and infirm, those who in the hard battle for existence have worn their poor old frames to the limit of endurance, and without family or friends, are compelled from sheer inability to compete to ask of their fellow human beings protection, shelter and care in their declining years. Homes for the aged and infirm should be established on Staten Island for the care of such inmates of other homes maintained by the city who are able to work on the land, in the gardens, or otherwise to contribute in some degree to their own support. Such employment would not only to a certain extent relieve the taxpayers from their entire support, but would brighten the lives of the inmates by a continuance of such activity and employment as their infirmities would allow and a realization that they were not absolutely dependent upon the charity of others. If we in our strength and strenuous pursuit of happiness would but pause for a moment to consider where or what we may be in the future, I am sure we would redouble our efforts to make the Northern Dispensary at least a grand monument to us, and a light-house to the shipwrecked.

May this institution in the future, as in the past, always continue to

"Pity the sorrows of a sick old man,
Whose trembling limbs have borne him to your door,
Whose days are dwindled to the shortest span,
Oh! give relief, and Heaven will bless your store."

"For fate has wove the thread of life with pain,
And twins, ev'n from the birth, are misery and pain."

EIGHTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE NORTHERN DISPENSARY.

To the Contributors and the Public:

The Board of Trustees of the Northern Dispensary respectfully submits the 83rd Annual Report of the institution.

The work of the Dispensary during the past year is thus summed up:

Prescriptions dispensed, 14,178.

Physicians' visits to patients' homes, 2,673.

Patients treated at Dispensary, old and new cases, 15,260.

Number of visits made by Visiting Nurse, 1,963.

Number of patients for Visiting Nurse, 335.

The above figures present no mass of statistics, but are eloquent of the work done. The field of dispensary assistance is so great, especially in this city, that the wonder is so little is heard about these institutions, or that they are able to do their work with the limited means at their command.

The Dispensary is the family physician of the locality in which it is situated; and as the family physician passes along more serious cases to the specialist or hospital, so the Dispensary passes along major operations and diseases that cannot be treated because of the poverty of the home.

At an annual meeting of Subscribers of this institution, in January, 1863, Judge Charles P. Daly spoke as follows, during the course of an address prepared after much research into the general subject of dispensaries: "Medical aid and medicines are given by the dispensary to the indigent at once, the moment they complain or feel the approach of illness, without the necessity, in many cases, of any interruption in their daily occupations,—whereas an hospital, on the contrary, receives the patient when the disease has set in, and when, being no longer able to work, he must go into the institution and remain there until a cure is effected. All experience teaches how important is medical assistance in the first stages of a malady—that it is more easily managed and less dangerous then than afterwards; and if it were necessary, therefore, to institute a comparison as to which of the two institutions was of the greater advantage to the poor, I should say that the one (dispensary) which promptly supplies the means of arresting disease in the incipient stages of its progress is of greater utility to them than the one (hospital) which receives them when disease has become seated."

As the subject of dispensaries at that time was of some public interest, there was also prepared from the statistics of the seven dispensaries in New York a very interesting, but elaborate, table covering the estimated pecuniary value to the public of the dispensaries. The gross value was $308,745. Expenses in support of the system, $21,199. Net saving to the public, $287,546. In this old fashioned estimate, it is figured that all dispensary patients saved a day annually by the prompt attention which they received in sickness, and at this time it was worth $1.50 to the males and 50 cents to the females per day. It is of interest to note that during this same year (1863), the appropriation to this institution from the city was one thousand dollars.

It would be a difficult matter to work out to-day the great saving to the city by its dispensaries, but it is not difficult to understand that the dispensaries have in themselves a very serious problem to work out, when it is considered that the population of the Borough of Manhattan in 1860 was 813,669, while to-day it is 2,410,250, and with this increase of people, 196 per cent., the number of dispensaries themselves has remained about the same. In this connection, it is sad to record that the contribution of the city to this institution in the year just closing was $750.00 less than it was forty-six years ago, or $250,00..

Dispensary patients are very poor. A dispensary can hardly hope for such a change in the fortunes of its patients as ever to receive a legacy to further its work, by reason of gratitude for personal services; it occupies little real estate and it has not been able to accumulate any fund by change of location to take advantage of increased valuations. Notwithstanding, its work has been done, and, thanks to the Contributors and the General Staff, well done; but there are so many ways to do more good, and there is so much now left undone, that it is hoped some funds will be forthcoming as well from the city as individuals. Great amounts are not imperative, the necessities of the very poor are very simple, but there is no more worthy general charity to-day than this same dispensary work. It is in intimate daily touch with the needs and troubles of its locality. It concerns itself with the fresh-air matters for mothers and children in the summer, and out-of-work problems for the fathers in winter; but, above all, is the medical first aid, so to speak, it renders. But, there is also a peculiar service to the community, aside from help to the sick, in holding contagion in check. The very poor, when ill, will often not call a doctor, and so the health authorities would at times be without knowledge except for the work of the dispensary. This can be better understood when it is stated that the prejudice against a physician, even when his services are free, is so strong that the dispensary doctors have trouble, at times, gaining admission to treat some cases.

In explanation of the actual work this institution is doing, it is always possible for any deserving poor person to call at the Dispensary and receive free medical advice, and prescriptions, when necessary. These prescriptions are then prepared, free if the patient is unable to pay, and at a charge of 10 cents if they have the money. On the average, about 25 per cent. of the prescriptions are free. There are always cards in the district explaining that the doctors go free to the homes of those too ill to call at the Dispensary. Aside from the 10 cents for teeth pulling, when the patient is able to pay, there is absolutely no charge for services, except in connection with prescriptions, as above.

The general work of the Dispensary has been carried along as usual through the year. The Trustees are deeply indebted to the Visiting Nurse, Mrs. Evelyn Vredenburgh, and to the Society for Ethical Culture, and those unknown friends whose generosity makes this work possible. The good of this particular charity is very great, and its donors should feel they are accomplishing much. Mrs. Vredenburgh has put into her work a rare skill and tenderness.

The full report of the Visiting Nurse appears elsewhere. It is the story of one who is every day in touch with the very first needs of the poor; and as a story of humanity, the Trustees suggest your attention to it.

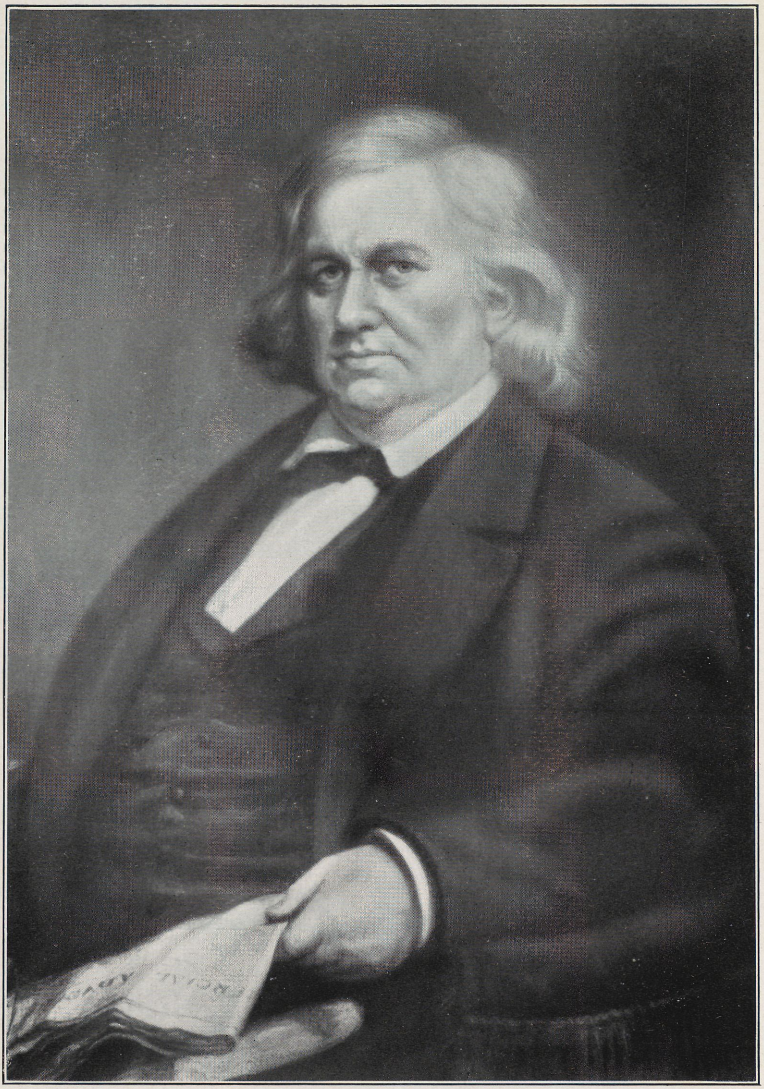

The Trustees desire to give expression to the good accomplished by the New York Diet Kitchen Association in its milk distribution, in connection with this Dispensary.

The general work of this institution is made possible by the yearly contribution of its friends, and to them the Trustees return thanks in the name of the poor they have helped.

The Board has suffered a very severe loss during the year just closed in the death of three of our oldest and most faithful Trustees—Mr. William Lambert, who served 27 years, from 1874 to 1884, re-entering the Board in 1892. Dr. Gerardus H. Wynkoop, who served 30 years, and Mr. Edward F. Brown, who served 37 years; also record with great sorrow the death of Mr. Edward H. Schell, a member of the Board from 1889 to 1909, a period of 20 years, serving as such until within a few days of his death, which occurred on January 25, 1910. All of the above men gave to the work of this Dispensary their best thought and useful endeavor, and their presence has been missed at the Council Board. The obituary notice of Mr. Lambert appeared in the report of 1908, printed in February, 1909. The obituary notices of the other two members, together with that of Mr. Schell, have been ordered inserted in the 1909 report.

During the past year the following portraits have been hung in the Board Room:

GERARDUS H. WYNKOOP, M.D.

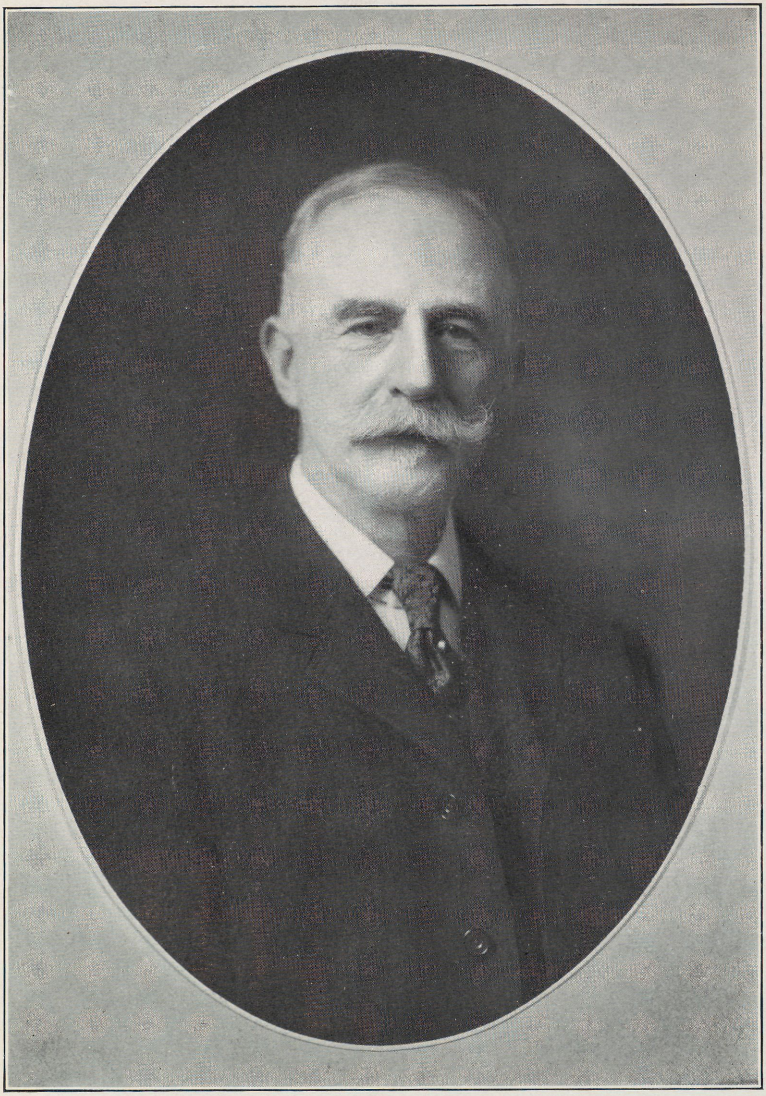

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Northern Dispensary, held June 4, 1909, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, on May 16, 1909, our respected fellow-trustee, Dr. Gerardus H. Wynkoop, was removed by death, after a long life of activity in his profession, and thirty years of faithful service in this Board,

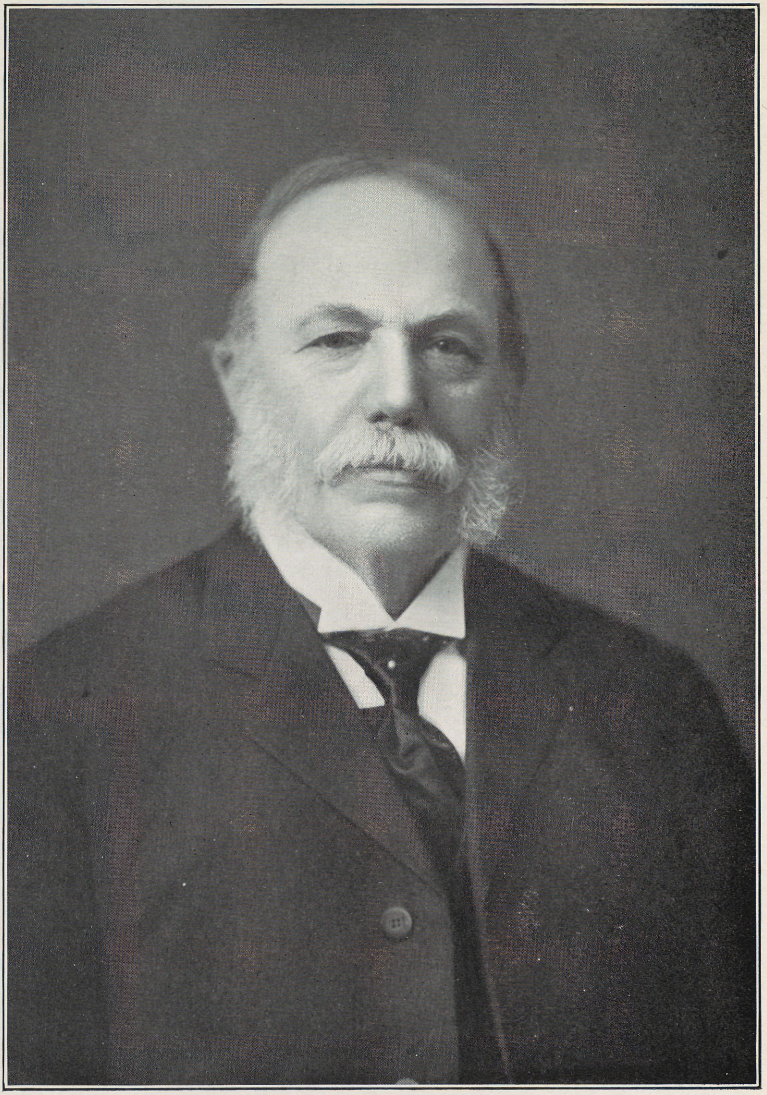

RESOLVED, That we deplore the loss of our honored associate, whose devotion to the interests of the Northern Dispensary has been evidenced by unvarying fidelity to the many responsibilities laid upon him, and whose wise and helpful counsel has contributed so largely to the results accomplished,

RESOLVED, That we shall hold his life and services in unfailing memory as a high type of consecration to the welfare of those who can offer no reward but gratitude.

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be inscribed in full on the minutes, and be printed in the next Annual Report, and that an engrossed copy of same be sent to the family.

GERARDUS H. WYNKOOP, M.D.

EDWARD FLINT BROWN.

EDWARD FLINT BROWN.

EDWARD FLINT BROWN, born in Sebago, Cumberland County, Maine, September 3, 1839, died at his residence, 119 East 62nd Street, this city, September 26, 1909.

He came from sturdy New England Revolutionary stock, his great-grandfather having been a captain of the Concord company of Minutemen at the battle of Concord, April 18, 1775.

Mr. Brown was graduated from Yale in 1863; attended the Law School of Columbia University; was admitted to the bar in 1864. As a lawyer he stood high in his profession. He was for five years an examiner of candidates for admission to the Bar in this State, and served as a member of the Committee on Character of the Bar Association. In 1893 St. John's College, Maryland, conferred on him the degree LL.D.

In church life he was a member of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. He was President of the Board of Trustees of the Bridgton Academy of Maine, where his early education was obtained; a member and Director of the New England Society, and member for life of the New York Historical Society.

Mr. Brown was a Republican in politics throughout life. A member of the Union League Club since 1868, and for many years an earnest and active member of its Committee on Political Reform. He was an old friend of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt; and, at the Assembly Convention, in 1881, presented his name as a candidate for membership of the lower house of the New York Legislature, and aided greatly in his election, this being Mr. Roosevelt's first political office.

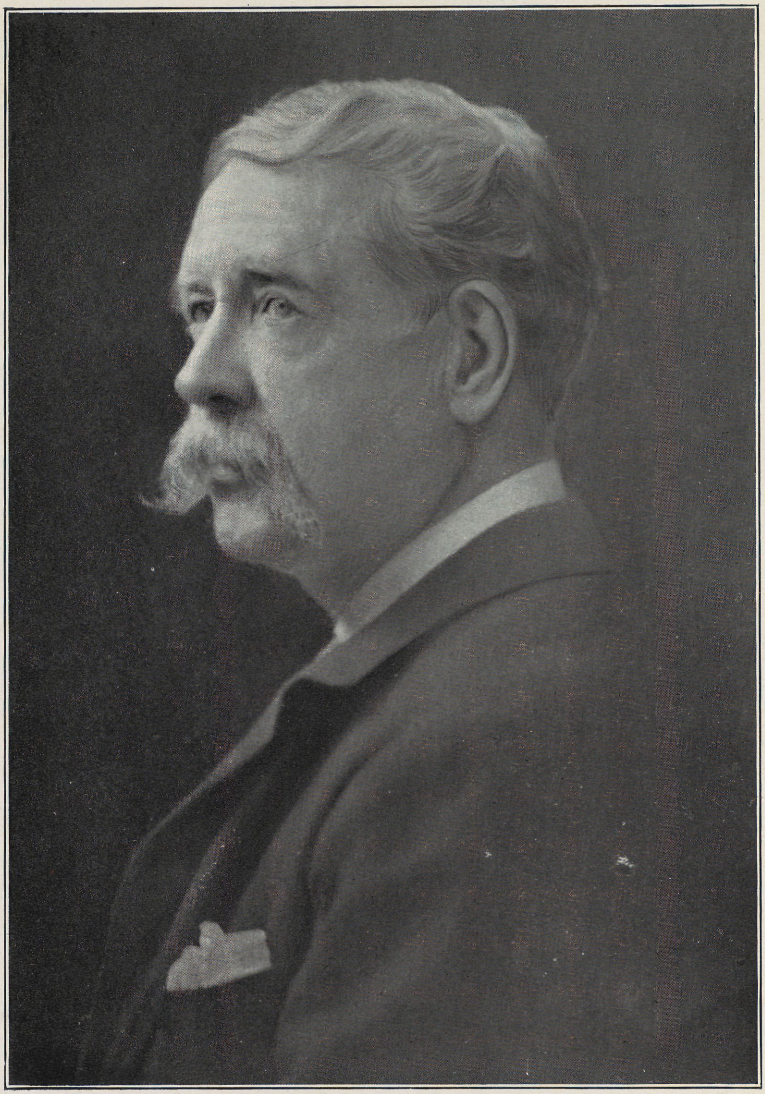

In 1869 Mr. Brown married Eleanor, daughter of the late Judge B. W. Bonney, who, with four sons and two daughters, survive him.

In his death this Dispensary has lost a Trustee who served it with great efficiency for a period of thirty-three years, there being now but two living whose election to this Board antedates his. He was Vice-President in 1892 and 1893, and President in 1894. In 1899 he became its Counsel, and it was as such that his great fidelity to the institution's interest became so evident. Many of us are familiar with the painstaking care he used in investing the Dispensary's funds; and to him, for this service, we owe a debt of gratitude. His knowledge of real estate values in Manhattan and the Bronx was invaluable.

To the older members of this Board Mr. Brown was intimately known—they prized his friendship and confided in his judgment. We shall miss him greatly as the years go by. To his widow and children we tender our heartfelt sympathy in the great sorrow that has come to them.

EDWARD HEARTT SCHELL.

EDWARD HEARTT SCHELL.

Edward Heartt Schell was born in Troy, New York, in 1848, where he lived with his grandfather, Jonas Heartt, who was at one time Mayor of Troy. He moved to New York City when a boy and lived here up to the time of his death on the 25th day of January, 1910.

He was elected a Trustee of the Northern Dispensary in 1889 and served the Dispensary as a member of the Board, until a few days prior to his death. His father, Edward Schell, was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Dispensary, having been elected in 1861, and serving as such to the time of his death in 1893. In 1876 his father served as Second Vice-President; in 1877 as First Vice-President, and in 1878 as President of the Board of Trustees.

Edward Heartt Schell was graduated from Yale University in the Class of 1870, and later studied law at Columbia, and was admitted to the bar of this State. He was married in 1886 to Cornelia E. Barnes, daughter of the late William Evarts Barnes, who survives him, as does also his sister, Miss M. E. Schell, who resides at 9 Washington Square North in this city. Among the many clubs and societies that he was a member of were the St. Nicholas and Manhattan Clubs, the Bar Association of the City of New York, and the St. Nicholas Society; he was also a Director of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company and of the Manhattan Savings Institution.

Mr. Schell was a genial companion, a gentleman in the broadest sense of the word, and a fellow member whose memory we will all cherish in fond recollections, and in his death the Trustees have lost an esteemed associate.

We extend to his widow and his sister our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

REPORT OF VISITING NURSE FOR 1909.

Number of patients, 335.

Number of visits, 1963.

This year has been the lightest in sickness, taking it all together, I have ever seen.

The city is certainly in a very healthy condition.

Last summer 30 children were sent to Nyack through the Christian Herald. Forty children by the Children's Aid Society, and a good many families to Sea Breeze for a two weeks' rest—or for several daily trips. Four older girls went for a two weeks' vacation through the Young Girl's Vacation Society. Dinners were given to 20 families on Thanksgiving. Christmas the six little trees were provided at the homes, as usual. Over one hundred children had toys and candy, and 18 families dinners, coal and warm underclothing. Shoes were given to a number of women and children. One young girl who worked in a very cold place, and had bronchitis as a result, was given a cardigan jacket, with which she was much pleased. A woman over 60 years old, who lived with a much older husband and in one room, and who supported them both by sewing and pressing, sprained her ankle. A dinner was given them which a kind neighbor cooked, and I bandaged her ankle until it was better.

One small boy whom I went to see cried with the pain in his leg; he told me which one it was, and as it was very dirty, I carefully washed it and found there was nothing the matter with it, but the trouble, which was rheumatism, was with the other, which I also washed. The boy told his mother afterwards the reason that he told me the wrong leg was that he hoped I would wash but one, and that wouldn't be the one that ached!

This case shows where help works two ways.

A woman who was very nervous and did not want to go to the hospital was obliged to undergo a small operation, so the doctors from the Dispensary gave their time and skill and operated on her at her own home. I went to see her every day, but I provided a woman to take care of her for two weeks; keeping the room clean, waiting on the patient and preparing her food. The patient, who made a quick and full recovery, was most grateful and came to the Dispensary the week before Christmas and gave me most welcome help in getting the toys and other gifts ready for the numerous little ones. The woman who took care of her was about to have a baby and lived in a most uncomfortable basement, with several children and a husband who drank, was able with the money she earned there and also at another patient's house, to take better rooms and provide for her coming child, which proved to be twins.

One of the women I wrote of last year, whose husband was sick in the hospital with pulmonary tuberculosis, was left a widow a few months ago, with five small children. She was given a dinner at Thanksgiving, and Christmas a tree with toys and candy and quilts and clothing.

Over twelve hundred dollars, two boxes of clothing (new), a large box of half-worn clothing in very good condition, old linen, bottles and medicine were contributed by generous friends.

Thanks are due to the Ethical Culture Society and School for money and dinners. To the Christian Herald and the Children's Aid Society for summer outings. To the Sewing Society of the Ethical Culture for their generous supply of clothing, and to the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor for summer outings and for relief in food and clothing to many of our patients.

I am most grateful for the unfailing courtesy and kindness shown me by the Board of Directors, Superintendent, Doctors and Apothecary.

E. VREDENBURGH,
Visiting Nurse.
